

The Palm Beach Post

'Rebranded' ArtPalmBeach strengthens curated projects

5 PHOTOS

3:54 p.m. GMT Jan. 28, 2020

GBG Arts' booth will include Alberto Cavaliere's 2014 "Duraluminium Hebe Alum." The gallery is based in Caracas, Venezuela, and has a seasonal branch in Miami.

PHOTO BY DANIEL BENAÏM

Habatat Galleries' best-selling artist Vivian Wang of West Palm Beach creates works such as "Obi Gold" from cast glass, stoneware, gold leaf and gemstones.

PHOTO BY GREGORY ROSS

Domenic Esposito's nonprofit The Opioid Spoon Project will display his "FDA Spoon." The 800-pound aluminum spoon was the centerpiece of a protest in April outside the Hubert H. Humphrey Building in Washington, D.C.

COURTESY OF THE ARTIST

Luke Jerram's "Museum of the Moon" when it was exhibited at the University of Bristol in Great Britain. The installation, which has drawn millions of visitors in other cities, will be on view during ArtPalmBeach in West Palm Beach.

PHOTO BY CAROLYN EATON/ALAMY NEWS LIVE

Peter Zelewski's "Joe and Duke" will be included in Photographers: Next Decade, curated by Pietro Daprano at ArtPalmBeach.

COURTESY OF THE ARTIST